

1, Explain behaviour of hub device

- * Layer 1 device
- * This device broadcasts the message to all the connecting devices.

2, Explain behaviour of switch device

- * Layer 2 device
- * This is a both unicast and broadcast device.
- * This device stores the ~~mac~~ mac and port number in a table name mac table.

3, Explain behaviour of router device

- * Layer 3 Device.
- * This device helps to break the broadcasting.
- * This device stores the data like network ID, prefix length, and the Interface name, with the help of the Routing table.
- * This device is also used to connect different types of network.